

Our Connectional Stories

BOARD OF ORDAINED MINISTRY

Resident in Ministry Program

For three years I have been a part of an intentional shaping process. The formal name of the group is Resident In Ministry (RIM) and as a resident in ministry, I have been supported, encouraged, and prayed for in my journey to ordination.

My RIM group has changed several times over the three years. The first year was especially fun for me because the dynamics of this particular group focused on the theological aspects of worship. I remember a couple of folks propelling our group of commissioned elders and deacons into deep, meaningful, and lively discussions by asking the question, "What is worship?"

In my second year, I began a new appointment in the local church and the RIM group proved invaluable. We learned from each other's experiences how to navigate the smooth and sometimes bumpy waters that comprise the local church.

In my last year of RIM, I found my group to be comprised of now cherished friends and respected colleagues. My favorite aspect of the RIM program is the relationships that form which are a lasting network of people who can be depended on to offer wisdom, a listening ear or ministry advice.

Lori Casey

✠
IN MINISTRY
TOGETHER
*Your giving through
Our Mission Covenant
makes connectional stories
like this one possible.*

We learned from each other's experiences
how to navigate the smooth and sometimes bumpy
waters that comprise
the local church.

Our Connectional Stories

BOARD OF ORDAINED MINISTRY

Resident in Ministry Program

For three years I have been a part of an intentional shaping process. The formal name of the group is Resident In Ministry (RIM) and as a resident in ministry, I have been supported, encouraged, and prayed for in my journey to ordination.

My RIM group has changed several times over the three years. The first year was especially fun for me because the dynamics of this particular group focused on the theological aspects of worship. I remember a couple of folks propelling our group of commissioned elders and deacons into deep, meaningful, and lively discussions by asking the question, "What is worship?"

In my second year, I began a new appointment in the local church and the RIM group proved invaluable. We learned from each other's experiences how to navigate the smooth and sometimes bumpy waters that comprise the local church.

In my last year of RIM, I found my group to be comprised of now cherished friends and respected colleagues. My favorite aspect of the RIM program is the relationships that form which are a lasting network of people who can be depended on to offer wisdom, a listening ear or ministry advice.

Lori Casey

✠
IN MINISTRY
TOGETHER
*Your giving through
Our Mission Covenant
makes connectional stories
like this one possible.*

We learned from each other's experiences
how to navigate
the smooth and
sometimes bumpy
waters that comprise
the local church.

